The mission of Brigham Young University is to assist individuals in their quest for perfection and eternal life. That assistance should provide a period of intensive learning in a stimulating setting where a commitment to excellence is expected and the full realization of human potential is pursued.

All instruction, programs, and services at BYU, including a wide variety of extracurricular experiences, should make their own contribution toward the balanced development of the total person. Such a broadly prepared individual will not only be capable of meeting personal challenge and change but will also bring strength to others in the tasks of home and family life, social relationships, civic duty, and service to mankind.
WHAT WE LOOK FOR THE HOLISTIC ADMISSION REVIEW

Whether you are applying as a freshman or a transfer student, there is no secret formula for admission to BYU. We define “freshman” as one who has not completed any college/university work following high school graduation or secondary education completion. We define “transfer” as an applicant who attended college or university after completion of high school or secondary education. A full account of your academic history will be required, regardless of transferability or desired program of study.

All applications go through a holistic review, meaning everything in the application is considered. Take the opportunity to tell us about yourself. Make sure the work is your own and be thorough. Your application, including your essays, should demonstrate your preparation in these four areas:

SPIRITUALLY STRENGTHENING

“The founding charge of BYU is to teach every subject with the Spirit.” BYU provides a world-class education within a spiritual environment. To help you feel comfortable here, we recommend attending, participating in, and graduating from LDS seminary. We also recommend that you regularly participate in church meetings, programs, and activities. If you are spiritually prepared, BYU will provide you with the opportunity to strengthen your testimony of the gospel of Jesus Christ while studying for your degree.

INTELLECTUALLY ENLARGING

“Members of the BYU community rigorously study academic subjects in the light of divine truth.” To be prepared academically, we recommend you take challenging preparatory classes during secondary education. We also encourage you to pursue your passions inside and outside of the classroom. Your academic preparation will allow you to learn from BYU’s faculty and even work alongside them in their research and fieldwork.

CHARACTER BUILDING

“BYU has always cared as much about strong moral character as about great mental capability.” A person of character should have a strong work ethic and be able to demonstrate resilience and honesty. You should be respectful of others despite differences, honor commitments, and have integrity in all you do. The BYU community will support you as you continue to strengthen your character and pursue a life consistent with the gospel of Jesus Christ.

LIFELONG LEARNING AND SERVICE

Students “enter to learn” at BYU and then “go forth to serve.” Our graduates use what they learn to make the world a better place. We look for students that already have a love of learning and a sincere desire to serve others. Cultivate your love of service through sustained exposure to meaningful service opportunities. BYU offers learning and service opportunities through various clubs and organizations that will help you continue your commitment to lifelong learning and service.
Originally from Copenhagen, Denmark, Louise Paulsen was a driving force in organizing the first LDS EuroSeminar at the BYU London Center in 2016. Diplomats, religious leaders, journalists, and scholars from 18 countries discussed how Latter-day Saints can make an impact in the public sphere and balance it with their faith. LDS students who plan to be influencers for good in their respective countries also attended, and many of them found mentors among the presenters.

Faithful, devoted Latter-day Saints in Europe are yearning for stronger networks, better education and a broader impact. BYU has taught me how to balance the intellectual and the spiritual and I wanted to help my peers in Europe have the same experience.”

LOUISE PAULSEN

TIPS FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Your preparation is an important component to success in higher education. The following tips can help your application go more smoothly:

- Plan early – registration for the ACT/SAT, an English-proficiency exam (TOEFL, IELTS, PTE, CAE), and credential evaluation can take several weeks or longer. To avoid rush fees, plan to register for these application requirements at least 2-3 months before the application deadline.
- You should list your name on the application as it appears on your passport. Additionally, to ensure scores submitted electronically are received, the name on the application and on any exams must be exactly the same. Any variation may cause delay.
- An endorsement must be submitted from your ecclesiastical leader on your behalf. If you are not a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (LDS) you must be interviewed by either your own ecclesiastical leader or an LDS Bishop as well as the University Chaplain.
- Admission to one semester or term is not easier than another.
- If you have attended any U.S. accredited high schools (in or outside the U.S.), you will need to self-report this work on the application. An official transcript will be required only if you are admitted. Failure to provide accurate information on any portion of the application may cause an offer of admission to be withdrawn.
- If you wish to live on campus you do not need to complete a separate application for housing. Admitted students are offered on-campus housing in the order they submit their admission application. A place in on-campus housing is not guaranteed, but the earlier you submit your admission application, the more likely you are to receive your housing preference.
- Only apply for the semester or term you wish to start. Requests to change beginning semesters or terms may not be accommodated.
- If you have completed a bachelor’s degree you are not eligible for a second bachelor’s degree from BYU, but are welcome to apply to BYU graduate programs.

EVALUATING INTERNATIONAL WORK

All secondary education and college work (not U.S. accredited) done outside the United States must be evaluated by an international credential evaluation agency at the applicant’s expense. BYU accepts evaluations from International Education Research Foundation (IERF) and World Education Services (WES). For more information visit inteval.byu.edu.

MISSIONARY SERVICE DEFERMENT
You may defer your enrollment (and scholarship, if applicable) for an LDS mission by completing a mission deferment form online. The form cannot be submitted until you have been admitted and have received your mission call.

PREPARATION RECOMMENDATIONS
- Live the standards of the LDS Church.
- Attend and graduate from LDS seminary. After secondary education attend LDS Institute of Religion classes if not attending a CES school.
- Participate in meaningful service opportunities.
- Get involved in extracurricular activities; develop your specific talents.
- Be genuine in your application.
- If your native language is not English, you will be required to submit an English Proficiency exam score, regardless of the amount of time spent studying in the United States. See page 11 for accepted tests and minimum requirements.
- Plan to provide specific examples of how you have contributed in meaningful ways as you write your application essays.

FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS
International students who are admitted to BYU will need to complete the following requirements before receiving the Form I-20 and registering for classes:
- Financial Verification – All admitted international students must provide verification that they are able to meet the cost of attendance. You must complete an Affidavit of Support accompanied with the most recent copy of the bank statement for each sponsor before you are able to register for classes.
- International Student Deposit – Once admitted to the university, all international students must make a deposit of $4,000 USD before they will be able to register for classes. The deposit will be held in an interest-earning escrow account with the intent to be released to the student during their final semester before graduation. Once the deposit has been paid and finances have been verified, the registration hold will be removed. There are no exceptions to this requirement.

FINANCIAL AID & SCHOLARSHIPS
Federal financial aid is not available to international students and you should not include the assistance of U.S. government resources when calculating your financial plan. Freshman applicants may qualify for highly competitive academic scholarships. Transfer applicants may be considered for other non-academic scholarships only if they are applying for fall semester and meet the December 15, 2018 deadline (see page 10). In all cases, to be eligible for BYU scholarships, students must submit the scholarship application (see URL below).

PREPARE TO SERVE. Take full advantage of your opportunity for an education; it will be invaluable to you. I don’t think it matters much whether you study to become a librarian, a lawyer, or a musician. Complete the course you have begun, and then God can use you to bless people with the fruits of your education.”

Students in the Public and Global Health Nursing course have the opportunity to have a life-changing experience similar to Dr. Cheryl Skousen Corbet’s. After getting her degree in nursing, she used her skills as a service missionary in the Dominican Republic. She taught the gospel during the day and principles of health and hygiene in the evenings.

Dr. Corbet now takes her students each year to countries like Vietnam and India for a one-of-a-kind health and hygiene practicum.

Every culture and people are valuable. Some of them wear different clothes, some eat different foods than we’re used to, they live in different circumstances and different places, but you can connect with and love people wherever you go.”

Hailey Coburn
B.S. Nursing, 2018
